

open market and a national market system and, in general, to protect investors and the public interest. Having considered the merits of the proposed rule change, the Commission has determined that it is consistent with the requirements of the Act, and is therefore approving the proposed rule change.

The Commission believes it is crucial for Nasdaq to be able to process transactions should volume exceed one billion shares a day. The NASD has determined that it can free up some Nasdaq capacity immediately by deleting certain quotation information from Nasdaq's CQS Service. In order for CQS market makers to uphold their market making responsibilities in exchange-listed stocks, however, the NASD rule requires that CQS market makers have a quotation service disseminating quotations from exchanges and CQS market makers in close proximity to their Nasdaq terminals. This proximity requirement ensures that CQS market makers will be capable of viewing exchange quotations and it also appears to satisfy the appropriate provisions of the ITS Plan.

The NASD has represented that neither it nor its subsidiaries believe that eliminating exchange quotations from CQS will compromise the NASD's ability to monitor trading in the third market. The NASD has stated that the NASDR's Market Regulation Department already receives market information concerning exchange-listed securities from securities information vendors. The Commission also notes that the NASD recently entered into a settlement with the Commission that requires the NASD to enhance its systems for market surveillance.⁸

It is therefore ordered, pursuant to Section 19(b)(2) of the Act, that the proposed rule change SR-NASD-96-26 be, and hereby is, approved.

For the Commission, by the Division of Market Regulation, pursuant to delegated authority.⁹

Margaret H. McFarland,
Deputy Secretary.
