BILLING CODE 5000-04-F

Department of the Air ForceNotice of Intent to Prepare a Legislative Environmental Impact Statement for Barry M. Goldwater Range (BMGR) Renewal, AZ

The United States Air Force (Air Force) will prepare a legislative environmental impact statement (LEIS) to assess the potential environmental impacts of renewal of the Barry M. Goldwater Air Force Range (BMGR), Arizona. The LEIS will be prepared in accordance with the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA).

The current land withdrawal and reservation of the BMGR was established by the Military Lands Withdrawal Act of 1986 (Public Law 99-606) for the period ending on November 6, 2001. The Act provides that the Air Force may seek renewal of the BMGR withdrawal, in connection with which the Secretary of the Air Force will publish a legislative EIS addressing legislative alternatives and the effects of continued withdrawal.

The purpose of the proposed BMGR renewal is to retain a military aircrew training range essential to near- and long-term preparedness of United States tactical air forces. Renewing the land withdrawal will provide for the continued effective implementation of ongoing air services training missions while maintaining the flexibility to adapt to the training needs of new technologies as they develop. The performance of air operations in combat is directly related to the quality and depth of training. BMGR provides a unique combination of attributes that serve this training requirement, including the following: favorable location and flying weather; sufficient land and airspace; diverse terrain; and developed training support facilities.

A range of alternatives, including the No Action alternative required by NEPA, will be considered. Three alternatives are described below.

- Proposed Action: Renew Barry M. Goldwater Air Force Range withdrawal and reservation for an indefinite period of time with Congressional review every 15 years. The existing land withdrawal and reservation, consisting of 2,664,423 acres, would be reauthorized for an indefinite period of time. The land would be reserved by Congress for use by the Air Force for an armament and high-hazard test area; training for aerial gunnery, rocketry, electronic warfare, and tactical maneuvering and air support; and other defense-related purposes. Every 15 years Congress would review the Air Force's continuing military need for the land, the environmental effects, and the needs of competing uses for the land and could adjust, if warranted, the terms and conditions of the withdrawal. Without limiting the priority use by the Air Force, the land would be managed in part by the Bureau of Land Management and in part by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. Specifically, the Bureau of Land Management would manage 1,842,423 acres of the BMGR pursuant to the Federal Land Policy and Management Act of 1976 and other applicable law. (The limited acreage of State Trust Land within this portion of the BMGR would continue under Air Force use.) The remaining 822,000 acres of the BMGR are within the Cabeza Prieta National Wildlife Refuge and would be managed by the Fish and Wildlife Service pursuant to the National Wildlife Refuge System Act of 1976.

- Alternative A: Renew the existing BMGR land withdrawal and reservation for 25 years. The existing land withdrawal and reservation, consisting of 2,664,423 acres, would be reauthorized for a specified term of 25 years, rather than for an indefinite time with periodic reviews. Otherwise, this alternative is like the Proposed Action.

- No Action Alternative: No renewal of the BMGR land withdrawal and reservation. The land would not be reserved for use by the Air Force. The lands within the existing BMGR boundary would be managed by the Bureau of Land Management, the State of Arizona, and the Fish and Wildlife Service under existing authorities. The No Action alternative would result in the fragmentation or cancellation of training missions accomplished at the BMGR. DOD would prepare appropriate environmental documentation to obtain Federal Aviation Administration approval to reclassify the existing restricted airspace to a Military Operation Area (MOA). This would allow for air-to-air training operations to continue, but would preclude air-to-ground training missions.

To provide a forum for interested parties to provide comments on the scope of the LEIS, a series of scoping meetings will be held in eight southern Arizona communities. In addition, written comments will be accepted throughout the scoping period, which ends April 1, 1996. Scoping meetings will be held at the following times and locations.

CATEGORIES OF RECORDS IN THE SYSTEM:

The principal digital record maintained in ETMS is the Individual Training Plan, which contains the following categories of information:

Education and training data, describing the level and type of education and training, civilian or military (academic education level, major academic specialty, professional specialty courses completed, professional military education received).

Active duty personnel and civilian employee information including personnel data, position information; historical files covering job experience, Acquisition Professional Development Program (APDP) certification, certification requirements, individual qualifications, and corps status relation to the APDP; education and training data for statistical analysis and employee assistance; extract files from which to produce statistical reports in hard copy, or for immediate access display on remote computer terminals, and miscellaneous files.

Miscellaneous work files and records, files with a less than 45 day retention period, intermediate records, and processes relating to statistical compilations, computer operation, quality control and problem diagnosis. AUTHORITY FOR MAINTENANCE OF THE SYSTEM:

10 U.S.C. 8013, Secretary of the Air Force: Powers and duties; delegation by; AFMC Policy Directive 36–2, Education and Training, and E.O. 9397.

PURPOSE(S):

The AFMC's education and training management is decentralized and encompasses a population that is diverse in terms of qualifications, experience, military status and needs. AFMC centers perform operational tasks pertaining to the population for which they serve. The structure of the AFMC, and its goals and objectives demand a dynamic data system that is capable of supporting the needs of functional management and the education and training communities at the major command and each center. It is to this purpose that the data in the ETMS is collected, maintained, and used.

USES WITH THE AIR FORCE MATERIEL COMMAND EDUCATION AND TRAINING COMMUNITY

HQ AFMC, Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, OH: Data from the ETMS is used by Command Training and Resources Managers to develop long-term plans and programs and track progress toward established goals. Individual data is used to support actions taken on certain categories of persons managed by offices in the headquarters.

Education and Training Flights: Provide personnel management support to center commanders, functional managers, and supervisors on a daily basis. Acting on policy and guidance provided by higher headquarters, they develop and execute center education
