Decision List No. 13

Appeals

Michael A. Grosche, 12/23/96, VFA-0193

Michael A. Grosche filed an Appeal from a determination issued by the Office of the Inspector General (OIG) of the Department of Energy (DOE) in response to a Request for Information submitted under the Freedom of Information Act. OIG had withheld names and other information from memoranda on the outcome of a closed investigation into alleged misbilling by sub-contractor employees which revealed no pecuniary loss to the government. In considering the Appeal, the DOE determined that all of the documents were generated for a law enforcement purpose and that under those conditions, review would be under Exemption 7(C). In applying Exemption 7(C), the DOE found that OIG properly withheld the names of persons interviewed and investigated. However, the DOE remanded to the OIG for further consideration the withholding of names of federal employees who did not appear to be persons OIG either investigated or interviewed, but who only seemed to be performing their official functions. The DOE also remanded for further consideration all other withheld material such as subcontract numbers and billing accounts because none of the material appeared on its face to involve any privacy interest, but did appear to address a public interest in whether certain governmental-funded activities were well or poorly managed and how the Federal Acquisition Regulation may have been violated. Accordingly, the Appeal was denied in part, granted in part and remanded to OIG for further consideration.

Glen Milner, 12/23/96, VFA-0238

Glen Milner (Appellant) filed an Appeal of two Determinations issued to him by the Department of Energy (DOE) in response to a request under the Freedom of Information Act. In the request, the Appellant asked for all documents, generated from 1985 to the present, concerning the "White Train", which carried nuclear weapons until the 1980's. He also requested a fee waiver for costs associated with processing the FOIA request. On appeal, the OHA found that there is no provision in the DOE FOIA regulations permitting a conditional fee waiver, such as that requested by the Appellant. However, the OHA also found that disclosure of some of the information requested by the Appellant would be in the public interest, because it was likely to contribute significantly to government operations and activities. Under these circumstances the OHA determined that a fee waiver was appropriate with respect to the limited number of documents meeting those conditions. Accordingly, the DOE granted the Appeal in part.

Appeals

Digital City Communications, Inc.,
1/14/97, VFA-0254

Digital City Communications, Inc. (Digital) filed an Appeal of a Determination issued to it by the Department of Energy (DOE) in response to a request under the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA). In the request, the Appellant asked for Network Intrusion Detector software and the accompanying manual. In its Determination, DOE's Oakland Operations Office (Oakland) found that the requested items should be withheld under Exemption 4 of the FOIA. On Appeal, the Office of Hearings and Appeals (OHA) found that the case should be remanded because Oakland had failed to determine whether the software was a "record" under the FOIA. OHA further found that Oakland's Exemption 4 determination was inadequate. Therefore, the DOE granted the Appeal and remanded the matter to Oakland for further action.

Gretchen Lee Coles, 1/15/97, VFA-0251

Gretchen Lee Coles filed an Appeal from determinations issued by the Oak Ridge Operations Office and the Albuquerque Operations Office indicating that they had been unable to locate records that would reflect whether the federal government had employed Lee H. Coles and whether Mr. Coles had been exposed to radiation. The DOE denied the Appeal because it found that the searches conducted in response to the Appellant's Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request were reasonable. The DOE found that the FOIA Officers contacted people who would have knowledge of whether relevant documents exist, and that these individuals used appropriate procedures to search for the records requested.

Harold Bibeau, 1/17/97 VFA-0255

The Department of Energy denied an Appeal of a determination that no documents responsive to the appellant's request could be located. DOE found that the search conducted was reasonably calculated to uncover material responsive to the request.

I.B.E.W., 1/15/97, VFA-0250

The International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (I.B.E.W.) filed an Appeal from a determination, dated
