SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Abstract

The Annual Survey of Government Employment collects data on the employment, payrolls, and hours worked by part-time employees of state and local governments for one pay period in March. Data are collected from all agencies, departments, and institutions of the fifty state governments and from a sample of all local governments (counties, cities, townships, school districts, and special districts).

This is a mail canvass survey with an initial mailing and one follow-up mailing. Telephone follow-up is used to contact non-respondents and, as necessary, to correct apparent errors and incomplete responses. These forms and procedures are similar to those used in the previous annual survey conducted in March 1998.

Results from this survey are used directly in a variety of Federal programs: By the Bureau of Economic Analysis to develop the public sector components of the National Income and Product Accounts and to develop personal income statistics; by the Department of Housing and Urban Development for the allocation of operating subsidies to local housing authorities; and by the Bureau of Labor Statistics to bench mark the government component in their monthly employment and earnings statistics program. Other users include state and local government executives and legislators, policy makers, economists, researchers, and the general public.

II. Method of Collection

Data collection is primarily accomplished through the use of mail canvass questionnaires that are tailored to the type of government, agency or institution being surveyed. Mail canvass replies are screened for completeness, electronically recorded for processing, and electronically edited. Special data reporting arrangements exist with many state governments and some local governments to facilitate data reporting in ways that help minimize reporting burden (e.g. central reporting of data for all agencies and institutions of individual state governments, electronic reporting of data by some state and local governments, central reporting of school systems data by a number of state education agencies, etc.).

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Abstract

The Annual Survey of Foreign Direct Investment in the United States (Form BE-15) is necessary to provide reliable, useful, and timely measures of foreign direct investment in the United States. The annual survey covers all affiliates above a size-exemption level and collects annual data on the financial structure and operations of nonbank U.S. affiliates of foreign companies needed to update similar data for the universe of U.S. affiliates collected once every 5 years in the BE-12 benchmark survey. The data are used to derive annual estimates of the operations of U.S. affiliates of foreign companies, including their balance sheets; income statements; property, plant, and equipment; external financing; employment and employee compensation; merchandise trade; sales of goods and services; taxes; and research and development (R&D) activity. The data will be used to measure the economic significance of foreign direct investment in the United States and to analyze its effect on the U.S. economy. They will also be used in formulating, and assessing the impact of, U.S. policy on foreign direct investment.

Several revisions to the survey are being proposed to bring it into conformity with the BE-12 Benchmark Survey of Foreign Direct Investment in the United States—1997. BEA proposes to raise the exemption level for the survey to $30 million on the BE-15(SF) short form, up from $10 million (measured by the company's total assets, sales, or net income or loss), thereby reducing respondent burden for small companies; on the survey's long form, the BE-15(LF), the exemption level will be raised to $100 million, up from $50 million. In addition, BEA proposes to base industry coding on the North American Industry Classification System (NAICS) in place of the U.S. Standard Industrial Classification system, and to modify the detail collected on the composition of external financing of the reporting enterprise, on research and development expenditures, and on the operations of foreign-owned businesses in individual States.

II. Method of Collection

The BE-15 annual survey will be sent to potential respondents at the end of March each year. A completed report covering a reporting company's fiscal year ending during the previous calendar year will be due to be filed by May 31, 60 days after mailing. Reports must be filed by every nonbank U.S. business enterprise that is owned 10 percent or more by a foreign investor and that has total assets, sales, or net income (or loss) of over $30 million. Potential respondents are those U.S. business enterprises that report in the 1997 benchmark survey of foreign direct investment in the United States, along with affiliates that subsequently enter the direct investment universe. The BE-15 is a cutoff-sample survey, as described; universe estimates are developed from the reported data.
