Suckle Corporation, Scranton, PA; Notice of Negative Determination on Reconsideration

On September 17, 1999, the Department issued an Affirmative Determination Regarding Application for Reconsideration for the workers and former workers of the subject firm. The petitioner presented a list of additional customers decreasing purchases from the subject firm. The notice was published in the Federal Register on September 29, 1999 (64 FR 52545).

The Department initially denied TAA to workers producing computer chassis at Suckle Corporation, Scranton, Pennsylvania because the "contributed importantly" group eligibility requirement of Section 222(3) of the Trade Act of 1974, as amended, was not met. The investigation revealed that none of the major customers were decreasing purchases from Suckle Corporation while increasing import purchases of computer chassis during the period under investigation.

The Department attempted to survey those customers identified by the petitioners as no longer buying computer chassis from the subject firm. Of those firms that were not included in the initial customer survey, the Department found that some customers did not purchase from the subject firm in the time period relevant to the investigation, and others were no longer in business. The Department was unable to locate any information from the customers that were out of business.

Conclusion

After reconsideration, I affirm the original notice of negative determination of eligibility to apply for workers adjustment assistance for workers and former workers of Suckle Corporation, Scranton, Pennsylvania.

Trinity Industries, Incorporated, Plant No. 102, Greenville, PA; Notice of Negative Determination on Reconsideration

By letter of August 17, 1999, United States Automobile, Aerospace, Agricultural Implement Workers of America (UAW), Local No. 1653, requested administrative reconsideration of the Department's denial of Eligibility for Worker Adjustment Assistance, applicable to workers and former workers of the subject firm.

The Department initially denied TAA to workers of Trinity Industries, Incorporated, Plant No. 102, Greenville, Pennsylvania because the criterion (3) of the worker group eligibility requirement of Section 222 of the Trade Act of 1974, as amended, was not met. Employment increased from 1997 to 1998. Layoffs at the plant were attributable to the company's decision to transfer production of cement cars from the Greenville plant to another domestic facility. Although the petitioners alleged that Trinity imported railcars, the investigation revealed that the railcars produced by Trinity offshore served foreign markets and were not returned to the United States for marketing to the subject firm's customers.

The UAW request for reconsideration states that worker layoffs continue at the Greenville plant; the company has built production facilities in foreign locations and those products may be coming into the U.S.

On petition reconsideration, the Department contacted Trinity officials to determine if layoffs occurred after June 30, 1999, the expiration date of the TAA certification, TA-W-33,544, covering all workers separated from Trinity Industries, Incorporated, Plant #102-Railcar Division, Greenville, Pennsylvania. The Department also asked if Trinity in importing any products like or directly competitive with those that were produced at the Greenville, Pennsylvania plant.

The company confirms that workers have been separated since June 30, 1999. Those layoffs were caused by senior employees returning to work.

The company reiterates that the gondola cars built in Mexico serve that market. Grain cars are being delivered from Mexico to a U.S. customer. Since workers at the Greenville plant no longer produce grain cars, any worker separations caused as the result of those imports would be covered by TA-W-33,544.

Conclusion

After reconsideration, I affirm the original notice of negative determination of eligibility to apply for worker adjustment assistance for workers and former workers of Trinity Industries, Inc., Greenville, Pennsylvania.

Signed at Washington, D.C., this 14th day of September 1999.
