SUMMARY: The Department of Homeland Security (DHS) proposes a new system of records subject to the Privacy Act of 1974, as amended. This system, if adopted, will include personal information pertaining to individuals who submit information to DHS related to applications for designation of a technology as a Qualified Anti-Terrorism Technology (QATT) or for certification of a QATT for purposes of the government contractor defense and inclusion on an approved product list for DHS, both under provisions of Subtitle G of Title VIII of the Homeland Security Act of 2002—the Support Anti-Terrorism by Fostering Effective Technologies Act of 2002 (“the SAFETY Act” or “the Act”). The Homeland Security Act of 2002 is Public Law 107–296, 6 U.S.C. 441–444. System records will be disclosed to government contractors for processing, and some records may be disclosed to members of the public who request such disclosure.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: In accordance with the Privacy Act of 1974, as amended, 5 U.S.C. 552a, the DHS is publishing this notice of a proposed new agency system of records, to be designated as “SAFETY Act Records”. This system is intended to provide information pertinent to technologies submitted to DHS for designation or certification, or both, under provisions of the SAFETY Act.

The purpose of the proposed records system, if adopted, would be to create a list of technologies submitted by individuals, business entities, and other entities seeking liability protection under provisions of the SAFETY Act. The SAFETY Act provides incentives for the development and deployment of anti-terrorism technologies by creating a system of risk management and litigation management. The purpose of the Act is to ensure that the threat of liability does not deter potential manufacturers or sellers of anti-terrorism technologies from developing and commercializing technologies that could save lives. The Act therefore creates certain liability limitations for “claims arising out of, relating to, or resulting from an act of terrorism” where qualified anti-terrorism technologies have been deployed. The Act does not limit liability for harms caused by anti-terrorism technologies where no act of terrorism has occurred.

The DHS intends to compile and maintain these records in a secure electronic database designed, developed, operated and serviced by agency and/or contractor personnel who will be bound by restrictions of the Privacy Act. The system would be under the general supervision of the Office of Science and Technology, with technical support from the DHS’s Office of the Chief Information Officer.

The DHS anticipates that the information collected and maintained in the proposed system may include, at a minimum, telephone numbers, home addresses, and other identifying information for individuals who submit technologies for designation or certification under the Act, as described above. It is anticipated that the number of such individual submitters may be very small relative to the total number of other submitters who submit technologies for certification or approval under the Act.

The DHS intends to use electronic means for collecting this information. System records would be subject to appropriate safeguards to prevent unauthorized disclosure or tampering.

The DHS is seeking public comments on the proposed system of records as described above.
