Title: National Extranet Optimized Runaway and Homeless Youth Management Information System (NEORHYMIS)

OMB No.: 0970–0123.

Description: The Runaway and Homeless Youth Act (RHYA), as amended by Public Law 106–71 (42 U.S.C. 5701 et seq.), mandates that the Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) report regularly to Congress on the status of HHS-funded programs serving runaway and homeless youth. Organizations funded under the Runaway and Homeless Youth (RHY) program are required by section 312(b)(7) of the statute to meet several data collection and reporting requirements. These requirements include maintenance of client statistical records and submission of annual program reports profiling the characteristics of the youth and families served and the services provided to them. The October 2003 reauthorization of the Act maintained the requirements as described in the standing legislation.

Data from the National Extranet Optimized Runaway and Homeless Youth Management Information System (NEORHYMIS) support grantee organizations as they carry out a variety of integrated, ongoing responsibilities and projects. These include meeting statutory and regulatory reporting requirements, maintaining program service and management information for internal uses, tracking youth in their programs, accountability monitoring, management improvement, research, and evaluation.

Respondents: Recipients of grants from the HHS/ACF/Family and Youth Services Bureau to operate emergency shelters for runaway youth, transitional programs for homeless youth, and street outreach programs.

I. Funding Opportunity Description

1. Child Care Bureau

Since its establishment in 1995, the Child Care Bureau (CCB) has been dedicated to enhancing the quality, affordability, and supply of child care available for all families. The Child Care Bureau administers the Child Care and Development Fund (CCDF), a $4.8 billion child care program that includes funding for child care subsidies and activities to improve child care quality and availability. Combined with related State and Federal funding, CCDF provides more than $11 billion a year to States, territories, and tribes. Most of these funds are used to assist low-income, working families in paying for child care.

The Bureau works closely with ACF Regions, States, territories, and tribes to facilitate, oversee, and document the implementation of policies and programs that support State, local, and private sector administration of child care services and systems. In addition, the Bureau collaborates extensively with other offices throughout the Federal government to promote integrated approaches, family-focused services, and coordinated child care delivery systems. In all of these activities, the Bureau strives to support children's healthy growth and development, family self-sufficiency, parental choice and involvement, and linkage of child care with other community services.

2. Child Care Bureau's Research Agenda

Since 2000, Congress has appropriated approximately $10 million per year to be used for child care research and evaluation. The Child Care Bureau's research agenda supports activities likely to help decision makers in crafting effective child care policies and practices that promote positive outcomes for children and families. It is also intended to increase the capacity for child care research at the national, State, and local levels and to promote better linkages among research, policy, and practice.

The Bureau's capacity to further child care-related research is enhanced by the Child Care Policy Research Consortium, which is an alliance of research projects sponsored by the CCB. The consortium is comprised of researchers and their partners in States, local communities and other organizations who join in linking research, policy, and practice. The research projects of consortium members cover a broad range of issues. For example, some projects describe State and local child care populations, services, and programs, while others focus on child care subsidy policies and market dynamics. In addition, some projects examine issues that deal with the professional development and training of child care providers. The consortium meets annually in Washington, DC.

In order to synthesize the broad array of child care information being generated, the Bureau has created the Child Care and Early Education Research Collaboration and Archive (CCEERCA), which serves as the Child Care Bureau's national research knowledge management system for the child care field. The CCEERCA consists of an interactive Web site, an archive of data sets and reports, and a technical assistance support system to assist researchers and facilitate collaboration.

3. Purpose and Goals

The purpose of these grants is to support researchers in investigating child care issues that are consistent with the Child Care Bureau's research agenda and to improve the overall quality of
