SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

PRA Approval of Forms Used by Individual Taxpayers

Under the PRA, OMB assigns a control number to each "collection of information" that it reviews and approves for use by an agency. The PRA also requires agencies to estimate the burden for each collection of information. Accordingly, each OMB Control Number has an associated burden estimate. The burden estimates for each control number are displayed in (1) the PRA notices that accompany collections of information, (2) Federal Register notices such as this one, and

(3) in OMB's database of approved information collections.

The Individual Taxpayer Burden Model (ITBM) estimates the levels of burden experienced by individual taxpayers when complying with the Federal tax laws. This model reflects major changes over the past two decades in the way taxpayers prepare and file their returns; more than 85 percent of all individual tax returns are prepared utilizing computer software, either by the taxpayer or a paid provider, and less than 15 are prepared manually. The ITBM's approach to measuring burden focuses on the characteristics and activities of individual taxpayers rather than the forms they use. Key determinants of taxpayer burden in the model are the way the taxpayer prepares the return, e.g. with software or paid preparer, and the taxpayer's activities, e.g. recordkeeping and tax planning.

Burden is defined as the time and out-of-pocket costs incurred by taxpayers to comply with the Federal tax system. The time expended and the out-of-pocket costs are estimated separately. The methodology distinguishes among preparation methods, taxpayer activities, types of individual taxpayer, filing methods, and income levels.

Indicators of complexity in tax laws as reflected in tax forms and instructions are incorporated in the model. The preparation methods are:

- Self-prepared without software;
- Self-prepared with software;
- Used a paid preparer.

The types of taxpayer activities measured in the model are:

- Recordkeeping;
- Form completion;
- Form submission (electronic and paper);
- Tax planning (this activity completed at individual taxpayer discretion);
- Use of services (IRS and paid professional);
- Gathering tax materials.

The methodology incorporates results from a burden survey of 14,932 taxpayers conducted in 2000 and 2001, and estimates taxpayer burden based on those survey results. Summary level results using this methodology are presented in the table below.

Taxpayer Burden Estimates

Time burden is broken out by taxpayer activity. The largest component of time burden is record keeping at roughly 58 percent for all taxpayers, as opposed to form completion and submission at only about 14 percent. In addition, the time burden associated with form completion and submission activities are closely tied to preparation method. That is, these time burden estimates fluctuate according to preparation method.

Both time and cost average burdens are national averages, and do not necessarily reflect a "typical" case. The average time burden for all taxpayers filing a 1040, 1040A, or 1040EZ in 2006 was 26.5 hours, with an average cost of $207 per return. This average includes all associated forms and schedules, across all preparation methods and all taxpayer activities. Taxpayers filing Form 1040 had an average burden of 34.0 hours, and taxpayers filing Form 1040A and Form 1040EZ averaged 10.2 hours. However, within each of these estimates, there is significant variation in taxpayer activity. Similarly, tax preparation fees vary extensively depending on the taxpayer's tax situation and issues, the type of professional preparer and geographic area.

The data shown are the best estimates from tax returns filed for 2006 currently available as of July 20, 2007. The estimates are subject to change as new forms and data become available. The estimates do not include burden associated with post-filing activities. However, operational IRS data indicate that electronically prepared and e-filed returns have fewer errors, implying a lower overall post-filing burden.

Taxpayer Burden Model

The tables below show burden estimates by form type for Tax Years 2004, 2005, and 2006. The data are being presented for these three years because the 2006 estimates are based on an updated version of the ITBM. This updated version takes into account technical adjustments using improved data on taxpayer filing activities. Note that changes in burden reported for TY 2004 and 2005 versus prior published estimates, reflect not a change in actual burden but rather a change in methodology. Therefore, three years of data are presented below, based on the new methodology to show relative changes in burden over the past three years.

Comments submitted in response to this notice will be summarized and/or included in the request for OMB approval. All comments will become a matter of public record. Comments are invited on: (a) Whether the collection of information is necessary for the proper performance of the functions of the agency, including whether the information will have practical utility; (b) the accuracy of the agency's estimate of the burden of the collection of information; (c) ways to enhance the quality, utility, and clarity of the information to be collected; (d) ways to minimize the burden of the collection of information on respondents, including through the use of automated collection techniques or other forms of information technology; and (e) estimates of capital or start-up costs and costs of operation, maintenance, and purchase of services to provide information.
