In accordance with 5 U.S.C. 552a(r), a report of this amended system of records is being filed with the Chair of the House Committee on Oversight and Government Reform, the Chair of the Senate Committee on Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs, and the Office of Management and Budget.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Board recently completed a review of its Privacy Act systems of record. During that review, the Board determined that it needed to create a system of records for personnel security information. The Board previously maintained a similar system (BGFRS-2, Personnel Background Investigations Reports), but deleted this system because it duplicated the government-wide system of records maintained by the Office of Personnel Management (OPM). However, the Board has determined that it keeps records not maintained by OPM. Thus, the Board has determined that it is necessary to create a system for personnel security information, BGFRS-2 (Personnel Security Systems). The Board also determined that it needed to create a system of records for name check information. The Board performs name checks on the proposed officers, directors, principal shareholders, or other persons associated with a depository institution, holding company, or other foreign or domestic entity in connection with the Board's consideration of various regulatory applications, notices, or proposals. The Board uses these records, along with other information, to determine whether the related filing meets the statutory factors for approval. Thus, the Board has determined that it is necessary to create a system for name check information, BGFRS-36 (Federal Reserve Application Name Check System).

Additionally, during the review, the Board determined that the BGFRS-15 (General Files of Federal Reserve Agents, Alternates and Representatives at Federal Reserve Banks) and BGFRS-22 (Chain Banking Reference System) contain no records and that the systems are no longer used or maintained by the Board. Thus, the Board determined that it was necessary to delete BGFRS-15 and BGFRS-22.

The Board also determined that it needed to modify the Board's remaining systems of records. In addition to making minor modifications so that each system contained consistent information, the Board updated each system's exemptions and routine uses to ensure that all of the routine uses are listed and accurate. In the process of updating the routine uses, the Board determined that it would be most efficient to standardize its most frequently used routine uses. Thus, the Board created standard routine uses A-I. General routine uses A-H were previously listed in most Board systems. General routine use I was added in accordance with a recommendation issued by the President's Identity Theft Task Force that all agencies add a routine use for disclosure where security or confidentiality has been compromised. The Board's general routine uses and updated systems of records are published herein.

General Routine Uses

A. Disclosure for Enforcement, Statutory and Regulatory Purposes. Information may be disclosed to the appropriate federal, state, local, foreign, or self-regulatory organization or agency responsible for investigating, prosecuting, enforcing, implementing, issuing, or carrying out a statute, rule, regulation, order, policy, or license if the information may be relevant to a potential violation of civil or criminal law, rule, regulation, order, policy or license.

B. Disclosure to Another Agency or a Federal Reserve Bank. Information may be disclosed to a federal agency in the executive, legislative, or judicial branch of government, or to a Federal Reserve Bank, in connection with the hiring, retaining, or assigning of an employee, the issuance of a security clearance, the conducting of a security or suitability investigation of an individual, the classifying of jobs, the letting of a contract, the issuance of a license, grant, or other benefits by the receiving entity, or the lawful statutory, administrative, or investigative purpose of the receiving entity to the extent that the information is relevant and necessary to the receiving entity's decision on the matter.

C. Disclosure to a Member of Congress. Information may be disclosed to a congressional office in response to an inquiry from the congressional office made at the request of the individual to whom the record pertains.

D. Disclosure to the Department of Justice, a Court, an Adjudicative Body or Administrative Tribunal, or a Party in Litigation. Information may be disclosed to the Department of Justice, a court, an adjudicative body or administrative tribunal, a party in litigation, or a witness if the Board (or in the case of an OIG system, the OIG) determines, in its sole discretion, that the information is relevant and necessary to the matter.

E. Disclosure to Federal, State, Local, and Professional Licensing Boards. Information may be disclosed to federal, state, local, foreign, and professional licensing boards, including a bar association, a Board of Medical Examiners, a state board of accountancy, or a similar governmental or non-government entity that maintains records concerning the issuance, retention, or revocation of licenses, certifications, or registrations relevant to practicing an occupation, profession, or specialty.

F. Disclosure to the EEOC, MSPB, OGE and OSC. Information may be disclosed to the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, the Merit Systems Protection Board, the Office of Government Ethics, or the Office of Special Counsel to the extent determined to be relevant and necessary to carrying out their authorized functions.

G. Disclosure to Contractors, Agents, and Others. Information may be disclosed to contractors, agents, or others performing work on a contract, service, cooperative agreement, job, or other activity for the Board and who have a need to access the information in the performance of their duties or activities for the Board.

H. Disclosure to Labor Relations Panels. Information may be disclosed to the Federal Reserve Board Labor Relations Panel or the Federal Reserve Banks Labor Relations Panel in connection with the investigation and resolution of allegations of unfair labor practices or other matters within the jurisdiction of the relevant panel when requested.

I. Disclosure Where Security or Confidentiality Has Been Compromised. Information may be disclosed when (1) it is suspected or confirmed that the security or confidentiality of information in the system of records has been compromised; (2) the Board has determined that as a result of the suspected or confirmed compromise there is a risk of harm to economic or property interests, identity theft or fraud, or harm to the security or integrity of this system or other systems or programs (whether maintained by the Board or another agency or entity) that rely upon the compromised information; and (3) the disclosure is made to such agencies, entities, and persons who are reasonably necessary to assist in connection with the Board's efforts to respond to the suspected or confirmed compromise and prevent, minimize, or remedy such harm.

The Board also determined that modifications should be made to the Board's remaining systems of records based on input from the records system owner (or his or her designee) to ensure both that the systems accurately describe current recordkeeping and disclosure practices and that their routine uses are consistent and accurate. Generally, these updates were non-substantive in nature. However, in certain instances, substantive changes were made to ensure that the system of records notice accurately reflected the actual or desirable practice of the Board.

The majority of the substantive changes involved adding certain designated general routine uses to certain of the Board's systems of records. Most systems already provided for disclosure of records for enforcement, statutory and regulatory purposes; to a member of Congress; to the Department of Justice, a court, an adjudicative body or administrative tribunal, or a party in litigation; and to contractors, agents, and others. Where a system did not include these routine uses, they were added (except for those systems where such use would be incompatible with the purpose for which the records were collected), because the Board may generally disclose records for these purposes. This change resulted in amendments of the following systems: BGFRS-5 (EEO Discrimination Complaint File), BGFRS-9 (Supplier Files), BGFRS-10 (General Files on Board Members), BGFRS-11 (Official General Files), BGFRS-14 (General File of Reserve Bank and Branch Directors), BGFRS-16 (Regulation U Report of Nonbank Lenders), BGFRS-17 (Municipal or Government Securities Principals and Representatives), BGFRS-21 (Supervisory Enforcement Actions and Special Examinations Tracking System), BGFRS-24 (EEO General Files), BGFRS-25 (Multi-Rater Feedback), BGFRS-31 (Protective Information System), BGFRS-32 (Visitor Registration), BGFRS-33 (Telephone Call Detail Records), BGFRS-34 (ESS Staff Identification Card File), BGFRS-35 (Federal Reserve Application Name Check System), OIG-1 (FRB-OIG Investigative Records), and OIG-2 (OIG Personnel Records).

Similarly, a routine use permitting disclosure to federal and state professional licensing boards and similar entities was added to: BGFRS-5 (EEO Discrimination Complaint File), BGFRS-6 (Disciplinary and Adverse Action Records), BGFRS-12 (Bank Officers Personnel System), BGFRS-17 (Municipal or Government Securities Principals and Representatives), BGFRS-27 (Performance Management Program Records), OIG-1 (FRB-OIG Investigative Records), and OIG-2 (OIG Personnel Records). A routine use permitting disclosure to the EEOC and other government agencies in connection with those agencies' functions was added to: BGFRS-5 (EEO Discrimination Complaint File), BGFRS-24 (EEO General Files), BGFRS-33 (Telephone Call Detail Records), OIG-1 (FRB-OIG Investigative Records), and OIG-2 (OIG Personnel Records). A routine use permitting disclosure to another agency or a Federal Reserve Bank in both connection with background or security checks for Board employees or contractors or in connection with those agencies or a Reserve Bank's functions was added to: BGFRS-18 (Consumer Complaint Information) and BGFRS-34 (ESS Staff Identification Card File). A routine use permitting disclosure to Labor Relations Panels in connection with investigation and resolution of unfair labor practices was added to BGFRS-12 (Bank Officers Personnel System).

In addition, virtually every system was amended in a manner consistent with the recommendation of the President's Identity Theft Task Force to add a routine use for disclosure to agencies, entities, and persons involved in an effort to respond to a suspected or confirmed breach of the security or confidentiality of information.

The Board also added new, individualized routine uses to certain systems of records to ensure that systems' notices accurately reflected the existing and anticipated recordkeeping and disclosure practices. In BGFRS-3 (Medical Records), BGFRS-4 (General Personnel Records), and BGFRS-29 (Benefits Records), the Board added a routine use that permits the Board to disclose information to an emergency contact in the event of an emergency to assist the individual in obtaining certain benefits. BGFRS-4 (General Personnel Records) was also modified to add a routine use that permits the Board to disclose information to federal, state and local agencies necessary to comply with laws regarding communicable diseases. BGFRS-29 (Benefits Records) was further modified to add a routine use that permits the Board to disclose information to the Office of Personnel Management in connection with employee participation in the Federal Employee Group Life Insurance Program and Thrift Savings Plan. In BGFRS-7 (Payroll and Leave Records), the Board added a routine use that permits the disclosure of information to an entity preparing a mortgage or other loan to an employee to verify employment status and salary, at the request of the individual. In BGFRS-8 (Travel Records), the Board added a routine use that permits the disclosure of information for purposes of monitoring travel and enabling audits of common carrier charges to the Federal government. In BGFRS-20 (Survey of Consumer Finances), the Board amended the routine uses to indicate that the records in the system are protected under the Confidential Information Protection and Statistical Efficiency Act (CIPSEA) and that disclosure is made only to the extent permitted under CIPSEA. In OIG-2 (Office of Inspector General Personnel Records), the Board added a routine use that permits the OIG to disclose information to government officials charged with the responsibility to conduct qualitative assessment reviews of internal safeguards and management procedures.

The Board also updated each system's records retention period to be consistent with the National Archives and Records Administration's General Record

Schedules and Board-specific records retention and disposition schedules. Moreover, consistent with the Board's newly updated Privacy Act regulation (12 CFR 261a), the notification procedures, records access procedures, and contesting record procedures for each system have been updated to reflect the fact that all inquiries and requests regarding Privacy Act systems of records should be directed to the Secretary of the Board.

Section 2A of the Federal Reserve Act (12 U.S.C. 225a) and 15 U.S.C. 1601, note.

PURPOSE(S):

The records are collected and maintained for statistical purposes only in order to structure, conduct, and process the SCF. The SCF is a key part of the national statistical system and it provides a basis for a wide variety of government, academic, and other statistical research.

ROUTINE USES OF RECORDS MAINTAINED IN THE SYSTEM, INCLUDING CATEGORIES OF USERS AND THE PURPOSE OF SUCH USES:

Data collected as a part of the SCF are protected under the Confidential Information Protection and Statistical Efficiency Act (CIPSEA). To the extent that disclosure is permitted under CIPSEA, records may be disclosed for general routine uses C and I. Records may also be used:

1. Prior to the completion of data collection, the survey contractor uses information in the system to devise and attempt to execute a plan to request an interview with all members of the survey sample; access to such information is available only to those involved in the sample design and its implementation in the field.

2. Upon completion of data collection, access by the contractor to the system is limited to the specific information necessary to complete the initial processing of the data and to respond to requests from survey participants.

3. At the Board, access to data from the system is available only to staff members who have the primary responsibility for conducting and processing the survey.

POLICIES AND PRACTICES FOR STORING, RETRIEVING, ACCESSING, RETAINING, AND DISPOSING OF RECORDS IN THE SYSTEM:

Storage. Records are stored in paper and electronic form.

Retrievability. Records of answers provided by survey participants or interviewers can be retrieved by an identification number (which is generated for administrative purposes). Control file records can be retrieved by all categories of identifying information and above noted identification number.

Access Controls. Access to records is limited to those whose official duties, consistent with CIPSEA, require it. All records are secured by such controls as required to comply with CIPSEA.

Retention and disposal. All input information is retained at least six months after the accuracy of the database has been verified and destroyed when no longer needed for administrative or reference purposes. The final version of the SCF data set is one statistically altered to protect the identity of the survey participants; this data set is placed in the public domain. A data set without these alterations is retained as a restricted version within the Microeconomics Surveys Unit at the Federal Reserve Board.
