SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The office building at 1700 G Street, NW., currently occupied by the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau (CFPB), was originally designed by Max Urbahn Associates (now Urbahn Architects) and constructed between 1974–1977. The building is immediately west and north of the Winder Building, which is listed in the National Register of Historic Places (NRHP). To address the potential individual eligibility of this property, CFPB representatives and their consultants consulted key resources as part of a background review to put this building within a historic, social, architectural, and landscape context. This included the General Services Administration (GSA) study Growth, Efficiency, and Modernism: GSA Buildings of the 50s, 60s, and 70s (Robinson & Associates 2005), which provides an in-depth historical context on federal buildings of the Modern era, several newspaper and journal articles on file with the CFPB, books on the development and architecture of Washington, DC, interviews, and historic maps. To assess the building's potential eligibility, resources such as the previously mentioned GSA study, the American Institute of Architects Guide to Architecture of Washington, DC, and the Society of Architectural Historian's Buildings of the District of Columbia were consulted for a context of other buildings in the area. Fieldwork was conducted on June 25 and July 11, 2013. The building was evaluated for architectural significance as well as historic and physical integrity. This resource was documented through written notes and digital photography. The information obtained during the survey was then used to create the DOE

form and make recommendations on the property's NRHP potential.
