Instructions: The Bureau encourages the early submission of comments. All submissions must include the document title and docket number. Please note the number of the topic on which you are commenting at the top of each response (you do not need to address all topics). Because paper mail in the Washington, DC area and at the Bureau is subject to delay, commenters are encouraged to submit comments electronically. In general, all comments received will be posted without change to <https://www.regulations.gov>. In addition, comments will be available for public inspection and copying at 1700 G Street NW, Washington, DC 20552, on official business days between the hours of 10:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. eastern time. All submissions in response to this request for information, including attachments and other supporting materials, will become part of the public record and subject to public disclosure. Proprietary information or sensitive personal information, such as account numbers or Social Security numbers, or names of other individuals, should not be included. Submissions will not be edited to remove any identifying or contact information.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Ren Essene, Data Policy Manager; and Suzan Muslu, Data Governance Specialist, at 202-435-7700. If you require this document in an alternative electronic format, please contact CFPB-Accessibility@cfpb.gov.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Bureau of Consumer Financial Protection was created by the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act (Dodd-Frank Act)¹ to implement and, where applicable, enforce Federal consumer financial law consistently to achieve certain specified ends. The Bureau collects, manages, and publishes information in the course of its activities pursuant to the Dodd-Frank Act and other statutes. Congress delineated six “primary functions” of the Bureau in the Dodd-Frank Act.² Some of those functions expressly require the Bureau to collect data; in other instances, collecting data is integral to enabling the Bureau to discharge a function. Consistent with the practice of many Federal agencies, including other financial regulators, the Bureau collects information to inform and guide its work. Like other agencies, the Bureau also works to protect its data by using a secure environment and employing best practices for data controls. For example, the Bureau limits who has access to its Data Collections, de-identifies data, and prohibits Bureau staff from trying to re-identify individuals from de-identified datasets.

The executive branch has also emphasized data use, and the President's Management Agenda directly addresses data and information technology as primary drivers of transformation. One of the Cross-Agency Priority Goals is to leverage data as strategic assets to grow the economy, increase the effectiveness of the Federal government, facilitate oversight, and promote transparency. The Bureau aims to leverage data in the same way.

The Bureau is issuing concurrently with this Request for Information (RFI) a report on the Sources and Uses of Data at the Bureau of Consumer Financial Protection (“Data Report”), available on its website,³ which describes the sources and uses of the data that the Bureau intakes, including data that is obtained for one purpose and put to an additional use (“reuse”). The Data Report also describes the Bureau's data governance structure and processes, including the structure and processes governing the intake, use, access and disclosure of data. We refer to these activities as the Bureau's “Data Governance Program.”

This RFI seeks input on several aspects of the Bureau's Data Governance Program and its Data Collection activities to date, and suggestions for future improvements. For purposes of this RFI, we use the phrase “Data Collections” to refer to Bureau data intakes outside of the Division of Supervision, Enforcement, and Fair Lending or of the Office of Consumer Response. Data Collections include data that are collected by another agency and shared with the Bureau, data that are collected by a commercial entity and sold to the Bureau, public data that are downloaded by the Bureau, as well as instances in which the Bureau itself collects data either directly or through a contractor. The Data Report provides detailed information on the Bureau's Data Collections activities to date.
